

NatSCA

Natural Sciences Collections Association

<http://www.natsca.org>

Biology Curators Group Newsletter

Title: Assistant Editor's Postscript

Author(s): Whiteley, D.

Source: Whiteley, D. (1985). Assistant Editor's Postscript. Biology Curators Group Newsletter, Vol 4 No 3, 83.

URL: <http://www.natsca.org/article/1255>

NatSCA supports open access publication as part of its mission is to promote and support natural science collections. NatSCA uses the Creative Commons Attribution License (CCAL) <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/2.5/> for all works we publish. Under CCAL authors retain ownership of the copyright for their article, but authors allow anyone to download, reuse, reprint, modify, distribute, and/or copy articles in NatSCA publications, so long as the original authors and source are cited.

Assistant Editor's Postscript

As this is my last issue as assistant editor, I would like to finish off with a few words of thanks. Steve Garland has now deserted Sheffield and crossed the Pennines to Bolton Museum, and, well, it's just not the same anymore - pasting up stuff with offices 60 miles apart.

Anyway, I would like to thank everyone who has responded to my requests for copy, or taken part in various B.C.G. surveys, or had their arms twisted in one way or another. I must say that as assistant editor you have all the fun without the hassle.

However, if truth be known, I've been landed with the task of finishing this issue, you know, all the tedious bits such as page numbers and contents etc. while Steve is gallivanting around in the mountains somewhere north of Kathmandu. (envious? who me?)

By the way, the final choice of cover was mine; and everyone ought to do their bit for National Bat Year 1986. But if you think bats are big news at the moment, just wait until the Herps squad get to you!

Derek Whiteley
Sheffield City Museum

Then one foggy Christmas Eve.....

Merry Christmas from the Editors